An Interesting Group of Cut and Counterstamped Coins Lots 153 - 190

In this Sale we are fortunate in being able to offer an unusually fine collection of cut and counterstamped coins, largely from the West Indies. These pieces have always held a particular interest for collectors in this country. They have an aura of romance, and seem to be reminiscent of our own more primitive forms of currency which were common in the American Colonies during the 18th Century. They are not easy to collect because they seldom appear in any reasonable number. The rather substantial quantity being offered here is the largest we have seen in several years.

For those who wish to pursue the series in greater depth we recommend Pridmore's The Coins of the British Commonwealth of Nations — Part 3 The West Indies, Spink and Son, 1965, and Wood's article, "The Coinage of the West Indies", originally published in the American Journal of Numismatics, Volume XLVIII, 1914, The American Numismatic Society, New York, 1915. Both sources have been used in describing the pieces being offered here.

The explanation behind the existence of the mutilated Spanish Dollars and their parts is one that may not be easily understood by users of the laminated base metal coinage that is all too familiar today. Two centuries ago the whole concept of money was bound up with gold and silver that represented real value. Paper was still uncommon and generally only appeared in times of such crisis, as the American Revolution when an acute shortage of the precious metals had to be met by a readily available substitute.

By way of a brief explanation of the existence of the cut Spanish Dollars, the whole concept of a shortage of circulating coinage is probably as good as any. The main administrative and economic problem in the West Indies was to keep enough coins around to permit the economy to function. The difficulty was that the existing coinage in the area could not consist of full value coins because such pieces would have been exported at once to meet debts created by imports of goods needed in the islands. The solution was the deliberate creation of a token coinage whose nominal value was much greater than the actual silver content of each coin.

The whole concept of token coinage was one that had long been familiar to economists but the idea was difficult for people who had been brought up with the belief that a Dollar should contain a dollar's worth of good quality silver. Eventually it was accepted in Britain in 1816 and in the United States in 1853. But in the West Indies in the late 1790's the local governments had to face a crisis. The money in use was not their own anyway, and steps had to be taken to prevent the complete disappearance of all coins with the consequent breakdown of the economy.

Actually the first issues of punched-out Dollars took place in Dominica between 1761 and 1771 when heart shaped holes were cut in the coins. There is such a specimen offered in this Sale in Lot 165. Further issues were authorized in 1798 when round holes were introduced and the resulting plugs stamped to circulate in their own right, as we can see in Lots 166 and 168. Many of the Dollars were cut in half and others cut in 5 wedge or pie shaped pieces, each to be valued at a Quarter Dollar. Specimens of both varieties can be found in this collection. The shape of the holes punched into the larger coins varied on the different islands. Naturally, the French in St. Lucia, who were faced with the same problem, adopted a slightly different form of cutting. Specimens of a good many of these types of cut coins are available in the group offered here.

The original home of the wedge shaped cuts from the Spanish Dollar appears to have been the Barbados (see Lot 157). This cut money was used throughout the 18th Century and into the first quarter of the 19th. Undoubtedly, some of it drifted over to the mainland in the natural course of trade thus providing one explanation of the prevalent myth that shrewd Yankees cut up Dollars for small change. Needless to say, these shrewd Yankees, like the sellers of wooden nutmegs from Connecticut, were reputed to have stretched the Dollar into five quarters. In fact, most of the cut money was legally created by the government authorities in the West Indies after 1800 and saw little if any circulation in the American Colonies. The actual work of cutting the coins appears to have been done in London by machinery.

In due course the crude cut coins were replaced by other token pieces issued by national mints. At this point the whole function of the coinage changed. It was regarded as desirable for foreign coins to be stamped with the symbol of the local governments, as a sort of Act of Nationalization. Examples of counterstamped U.S. coins can be found in Lots 182 and 183. The British Government eventually prepared proper issues for the use of the islands. It was finally left for the proprietors of the more distant and primitive Colonial areas in Africa and Asia, and in Central America, to maintain the tradition. A few specimens of these later varieties will also be found in this interesting group of Cut and Counterstamped coins.

Central portion of the obverse and reverse slightly rough due to the dies. These are the highest points of the coin and consequently the deepest part of the die, so when the coin is struck the metal cannot fully flow into these deep parts that are opposite each other. Uncirculated and a lovely chocolate brown. - 697 1792 Washington. ROMAN HEAD. Baker 19. "SUPERB FLAWLESS LUSTROUS CHOCOLATE BROWN PROOF. Of the approximately 20 known specimens, about 4 - 5 are permanently impounded in museums. The last specimen to come on the market of which we are aware was advertised by Bowers & Ruddy in their 18th Rare Coin Review for $14,975.00 and sold by them at that figure in August 1973. The opportunity to purchase such a rarity seldom presents itself and it is most unusual to see two come up within the space of a year. We expect that it will be a good many years before another comes to light." So described when we sold this coin in our Orr Collection as lot 126. Since that sale in 1974, only two others have reached the market. A great rarity!

U. S. EAGLES ($10.00 GOLD)

UNUSUAL 1797 EAGLE

Lot No. 1158

- 1158 1797 The variety with the Large Eagle reverse. Actually the coin is an enigma. The entire coin is prooflike, however, the obverse displays a profusion of tiny marks which are completely inconsistent with the overall quality of the coin. The reverse is needle-sharp and actually is Uncirculated. In order to give it a grade for convenience, we will grade it About Uncirculated. A most interesting coin.
- 1159 1880 Choice Brilliant Uncirculated. Deep yellow gold with light russet toning.
- 1160 1881 Brilliant Uncirculated, light bagmarks. Delicate orange toning.
- 1161 1882 Choice Brilliant Uncirculated, sharply struck. Partial wire edge.

EXTREMELY RARE

1851 A. HUMBERT "SLUG" .880 FINE

WITH THE INCUSED 50 ON REVERSE

Lot No. 1198

- 1198 $50.00. 1851 LETTERED EDGE. Obverse: Eagle with shield and ribbon inscribed LIBERTY; scroll above on which is incused 880 THOUS; 50 incused, D. C. (for California) below; UNITED STATES OF AMERICA around, all within raised borders. Edge lettered: AUGUSTUS HUMBERT UNITED STATES ASSAYER OF GOLD CALIFORNIA 1851. Reverse: Fine engine turned design with target in center. Variety with 50 INCUSED in center of target on reverse.

A choice Extremely Fine with only one small corner bruise at 10 o'clock. Full mint lustre with considerable prooflike surface. A simply sensational example of this great rarity. Research discloses that only 8 - 9 exist in all conditions. In this marvelous state of preservation, perhaps only 4 - 5 exist. In fact there have been only five records of appearance at Public Auction since 1943! The known specimens of this quality are as follows:

1. American Numismatic Society.
2. Smithsonian - Lilly Collection (Stack's 1957).
3. Grinell (B. Max Mehl 1943).
4. Waltman (B. Max Mehl 1945).
5. C. S. N. S. (1957).
6. A. N. A. 1962 (The C.S.N.S. coin).
7. Beck (Kreisberg 1968).
8. A.N.A. (Stack's 1971).
9. A.N.A. (Peters 1973).

(Note: Some may be the same coin, e.g. the C.S.N.S. and 1962 A.N.A. coins).

The coin is so rare that for many years it wasn't even listed in Wayne Raymond's Standard Catalogue! One of the few times that a dealer gets the chance to offer an extremely rare coin and in exceptional condition. Easily worth a bid approaching the mid-five figure mark.
